Life," was the subject used by which Prof. Cook likened school activities to the struggle for top position in the business world.

It was the fourth commencement for the Glendale school, the graduating class this year being composed of sixteen students, eleven boys and five girls. This was the largest class the school ever graduated.

The exercises were held at the Glendale high school, the auditorium being filled to capacity. The program consisted of several interesting talks, in which practically all speakers told of the new life upon which the students are now about to enter.

 Active in church work and a member of various organizations in this community, the deceased was widely known among christians and social workers. She was an ardent supporter of the schools of the state and was deeply interested in educational betterment.
 Death followed a short illness and was probably due to heart trouble.
 Besides the husband, she is survived by four children, H. W. Reno, well known local merchant, Earl E. Reno a member of the senior class at the high school, Dean Reno of California, and Mrs. C. L. Larmour.

COYOTE NOTES

Several purchasers of animals have asked to have special leather bound animals made, and it is highly probable that some special copies will be made for these students. Those desiring such a copy should see Manager Fred Adams of The Republican job department or Earl Reno, the editor of the Annual. The price of one of these bound copies will be from $1.00 dollars and fifty cents to five dollars, depending on the number who decide to have them bound in this fashion. It will take about one or two weeks longer to bind an annual in this fashion, so that purchasers may have to wait a short time before securing their copies.

It has finally been decided to give the big senior-junior dance on Friday night, May 25. Whether it will be

On our lowest estimate of $90 per ton we can produce, with our 20-ton mill, a dividend of around $50,000 per month. That means 20¢ per share. Notice our capitalization is only 250,000 shares and proves the owners expect to make their money out of the MINE—NOT OUT OF THE STOCK end of mining.

I have only a small amount of this stock for sale and will give a bonus while it lasts, of 20 shares on each 100 shares. Send in your order at once, for these opportunities never knock long at your door. Don't hesitate to take 100 shares if you cannot afford more.
